An unpublished variety of the white coin (Type V.a) struck under Ferdinand I
A new unlisted variety of the white coin struck under Ferdinand I of Habsburg is presented. The coin with its marginal legend can be typologically classified as a new variety of the V.a type. The specimen shows all typical features characteristic for the mentioned type: the so-called crawling lion and five-petalled flower at the beginning of the marginal legend. Based on the iconographical form of the lion, the coins of the type V. are attributed to the Breslau mint.

 white coins; new variety; Ferdinand I (1526–1564).
