Doplněk k nálezu pražských grošů v Náchodě z roku 1928

Addition to the find of Prague grossi from Náchod (in 1928)

In 1928, a large board of the Prague grossi (about 1500 coins) buried in a clay vessel was found during digging of foundations of the Municipal Saving Bank in Náchod. In spite of the fact that the vast majority of the hoard found the way to the Náchod Museum, a smaller part of the hoard was disintegrated. Some five pieces – evidently from the Náchod hoard – were deposited in the old section of the numismatic collection of the Museum of East Bohemia in Hradec Králové. Four of them represent coins struck under Charles IV and one grossus was produced under Wenceslas IV. These coins do not bring any new view of the hoard, but they illustrate well its content.
